BIG TIMBER SCHOOL

"The Frog Chorus" and the Cantata "The Ivy Queen" Prettily Rendered.

FIRST PUBLIC EXHIBITION

The Body of Another of the Cort Children Found and identified - Inhuman Indifference of the Father.

Special Correspondence of the Standard. Big Timber, April 3.—The Big Timber schools closed for the term to-day and the occasion was celebrated by an entertainment in the Busha & Bailey hall consisting of recitations, a "Frog Chorus" and a cantata, all of them by the scholars of the various grades in the school. The hall was crowded to its utmost capacity by parents and friends of the pupils, who showed their appreciation by close attention and liberal This was the first public exhibition of the kind in Big Timber and the manner in which the pupils acquitted themselves was highly creditable to their teachers and the town. The recitations evinced earnest study and careful training and the absence of nervousness and embarrassment was remarked. "The Frog Chorus" was participated in by 20 of the boys of Miss Quigley's grade, and their funny antics and tuneful voices so captivated the audience that the chorus was repeated by request at the close after the balance of the programme had ben gone through with. The cantata, "The Ivy Queen," with Miss Mae Marley as the queen and Jennie Martin and Mabel and Fluy Barbour in the other leading roles was an exceedingly meritorious to their teachers and the town. The roles was an exceedingly meritorious performance, the singing of both solos and choruses being unusually good and the dialogues well spoken. On the the dialogues well spoken. On the whole the first commencement exer-cises of the Big Timber schools were such as parents, pupils and teachers have reason to be proud of. Following

Cort left early in the week for the Gallatin valley and seemed to be only anxious to escape the trouble of burying his dead when told of the discovery of the first body on Monday last. He objected to going to Grey Cliff to identify the body and it was only after the peremptory order of the coroner that he concluded that it would be wise to go. A GOOD APPOINTMENT.

Kind Words Said of the New Manager the Reform School.

Great Falls, April 5.—The newspapers of Fergus county, without regard to political complexion, comment very favorably on the appointment of B. C. White to the position of superintendent of the Miles City reform school, and the Lewistown Democrat says: "It is with a feeling of genuine and unqualified pleasure that the Democrat receives the news of the appointment of Burton C. White to the position of superintendent of the state reform school, located at Miles City. In making this selection Governor Smith has, while paying a high tribute to Mr. White, also manifested a substantial appreciation of the support given him Fergus county last fall.

"That Mr. White has received the recognition so justly due him is especially gratifying to those of us who love faithful, consistent, unswerving party fealty fittingly rewarded. In season and out of season Burton C. White has always held aloft the banner of democracy, never faltering, never hesitating, never receding one lota from the position which his Jackiota from the position which his Jack-sonian training taught him was the right and proper one to assume; when the democracy of this country was struggling against adverse criticisms and a pall of gloom hovered over the organization, Mr. White never wavered but girding on his armor redoubled his efforts for the triumph of those principles which he holds in the same ven-eration as he does his religion. It was a sense of duty alone that impelled him to thus fight the good fight and now, God bless him, he has in a measreceived the reward he has so nobly

But aside from its political aspect. the appointment is a particularly meri-torious one. Mr. White has had pre-vious expérience in the field which he has been called upon to fill and this will stand him in excellent stead in will stand him in excellent stead in creditably discharging the duties of the very responsible position which he is about to assume. Endowed with an equitable temperament, strongly im-bued with an affectionate regard for children, Mr. White will allow moral suasion, rather than arbitrary harshness, to predominate in the manage-ment of the unfortunates committed

A feature of this appointment which must, be especially gratifying to Mr. White is the manner in which it is received by even his most pronounced political enemies. The opposition, to a man, are constrained to admit that our governor has displayed admirable judgment in making this selection, one and and all conceding the appointee's rare qualifications and fitness for the post assigned him. "Mrs. White will undoubtedly aid her having enlisted in the army husband in the government of the school in so far as discharging the duties of matron go. For this work the but denied that he shot him.

lady is pre-eminently qualified, and her lady is pre-eminently qualified, and her musical accomplishments will enhance the value of her services. Cultivated in both vocal and instrumental music, a wide experience in the training of children, Mrs. White will prove a most valuable assistant to her husband in "The Fergus county democracy will miss Mr. White, but we shall hope that when the trumpet again summons us to battle he will be with us, smiting the Phillistines as of old."

COMPROMISE VERDICTS. oberly Looked at, They Are Simply Incongruous Great Falls, April 5.-Referring to the evil effects of compromise verdicts in criminal cases, the Argus of Lewistown says;

"The inadequacy of the law or the failure of judges and juries to do their duty is largely the cause in all sec-tions of citizens taking into their own bands the punishment of criminals. Were the law to avenge promptly the crimes that are committed there would be less crime and few, if any, lynchings. But too often criminals are set free or after long and expensive trials are sentenced to short terms of incarrantial are sentenced to short terms of incarranti Such miscarriages are what have led people in many states to the belief that if a criminal is to be promptly punished they must do it themselves. Not less dangerous to a community is the rendering of com-promise verdicts, which are not satis-factory neither to the theory that the in point is the result of the trial in Cascade county of Peter Welcome for the murder of Albert Vieau. The theory of the prosecution, and it seemed to be borne out by the best of circumstantial evidence, was that Welcome killed Vieau at the latter's home, the result of a long standing covered and result of a long standing quarrel, and then conveyed the body on a wagon bed to his own ranch and deposited it before his (Welcome's) window, where the body was found. The defense claimed, and Welcome testified, that late at night Welcome heard someone rulling tight belowed from his window, and pulling the board from his window and that he shot at the object in defense of his property and life, Vicau having of his prop frequently threatened to kill After a long trial defendant was found ilty of manslaughter and sentend 10 years in the penitentiary, the b loting of the jury showing that the final decision was a compromise. Now. it would seem to us that either Wel-ceme was guilty of a most cowardly murder and deserving of the death penalty, or he was innocent, one or the other—there was no middle ground. Such results shake the confidence of the public in the laws and in the

Interest in Philipsburg Now Centers in the Municipal Election and This Also Is Mighty Uncertain.

Special Dispatch to the Standard. Philipsburg, April 4.-At the school election yesterday the total vote polled was 564, and resulted in the election of Josiah Shull and George Metcalf. The judges declared a tie vote between John W. Dawson and John McKenzie. Late Friday evening a few men met in the court house and nominated Metcalf and McKenzie, endorsing Shull. The meeting had all the ear-marks of an organization that was supposed to have gone out of business, and as one of the gentlemen nominated at the mass conven tion refused to run, it was thought ad-visable to let Mr. Shull, the nominee of the three-letter meeting, take care of himself, and those opposed to that faction voted for only two men, Mr. Dawson and Mr. Degenhard, resulting in a tie vote for Dawson and a close run for Degenhard. Mr. Dawson really had one Degenhard. Mr. Dawson really had one majority, but one ticket for Dawson and Degenhard had a lead pencil mark in front of both names and the judges did not count it, and in this they are thought to have been wrong, as neither name was marked out. There is but little doubt that if a recount is ordered that particular ballot would be counted and thus elect Mr. Dawson, and it may and thus elect Mr. Dawson, and it may be that the courts will be applied to and a recount ordered. If this is not done, there being no election, the duty of filling the vacancy will devolve upon Miss Mary Smith, county superintend-ent of schools, and there is little doubt that whoever she appoints it will not McKenzie

However it may terminate, it is really a victory for those who wished to lift the school board out of the partisan rut it has been running in, as both Mr. Shull and Mr. Metcalf, the two trustees elected, are competent and fair-minded men, who are thought to be above the petty jealousies of the faction that elected them.

The school election overshadowed the contest for city officers, but now that it is over, the forces are lining up for the fray, and it promises to be a pretty fight with honors about even at the start. In the First ward Walter Kroger has a walkover, having no opposition, but in the other wards there are opposing candidates, and rain or shine there will be a lively time. Those who keep close track of political affairs say to-night that present indications point to-night that present indications point to the election of Mr. Gannon for mayor, and Mr. Boyd and Mr. Barnes aldermen of their respective wards. this estimate may be correct, although all admit that it will be close. To the credit of all it can be said that while the workers on both sides are doing all they can and frequently come together in argument, no loud word has yet been uttered or overt act committed. This was also true of the school election yesterday, when only good-natured banter was indulged in

The death of Duke Wilhelm of Wurtemburg has revived recollections of a romance in his family which awakened considerable interest at the time. Some 17 years ago the late duke's favorite niece, Duchess Pauline of Wurten burg, made the acquaintance of a young doctor from Bresiau, who had been called in to attend her mother while in Carlsruhe. The result was such strong nolds, Mrs. Rowley and Mrs. H. G. Wil- mutual affection that the duchess anacounced her intention of following the distates of her heart at all costs, even distates of her heart at all costs, even if it meant that she must sacrifice name and rank before she could marry a simple commoner. Her decision aroused a storm of opposition, and all kinds of difficulties were raised, at one time threatening the young people with entire separation, says the Ladies' Pictorial.

Opposition however, only second.

Opposition, however, only strengthened Duchess Pauline in her determination, and she wisely appealed to her uncle, who, touched by her constancy, gave his consent, as head of the ducal line, to the match, and silenced all objections. The marriage took place soon after in the little church at Carisruhe, the duke himself giving Pauline von the duke himself giving Pauline von Kirchback away.
